Excerpt: . . . of Massachusetts and never had been; that the proceedings in the Supreme Judicial Court of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts on the writ of habeas corpus issued out of that court which was set up by the return were immaterial and irrelevant, and that they should not form a part of the record in the case, but should be stricken out of the return. Thereupon, on the same day, on motion of the respondents, the court made the following order appointing a guardian ad litem for the petitioner: Habeas corpus proceedings will not be denied to a person because of the fact that he is in an insane asylum. Such proceedings may be invoked by a next friend in the interests of such person alleged to be in restraint without due process of law, and carried forward upon such petition until such time as the person restrained is brought into court or put into custody. Of its findings thereafter the proceedings should be treated as a petition of the party alleged to be restrained, if of sound mind; Statement of the Case. and, if not, a guardian ad litem should be appointed by the court from which such relief is sought. The return upon the writ distinctly alleges an advanced stage of dementia, and, while the denial to the return does not wholly admit the allegations, it does not fully deny unsoundness. The return in this respect should be deemed to import verity until...
