But, I think that, with the Serve America Act, we've drafted a bill that will address all of these priorities. As President Ronald Reagan said: The work of volunteer groups throughout our country represents the very heart and soul of America. They have helped make this the most compassionate, generous, and humane society that ever existed on the face of this earth. Volunteerism and selfless service are, in my opinion, fundamental American virtues and they will continue to be so with or without the aid of the Government. I understand those that do not see a significant role for the Federal Government increasing volunteer service and I share the concerns of those who want to ensure that we spend tax dollars in a sensible way. But, quite frankly, I don't think that such concerns are good reasons to oppose the Serve America Act. Currently, roughly...
