Dept. of Justice, Office of Justice Programs, National Institute of Justice, 1995 OCLC Number: ocm33883561 Subject: Family violence -- United States -- Congresses. Excerpt: . . . In a second example, Schechter mentioned cases in which children of mothers who had recently fled an abusive relationship were themselves sexually abused during unsupervised visits with their fathers. She asked, Why. . . were we having such trouble explaining to the health care providers, the courts, the child protection system, and the guardian ad litem the central role that domestic violence perpetrators play in jeopardizing the emotional and physical safety of these children One outcome of concerns about children caught in such situations was the issuance of a challenge to the American Bar Association (ABA) by then ABA President, R. William Ide to prepare a report on domestic violence and its impact on children. (An overview of this report is presented as Appendix B.) Victims and the legal system. A major challenge for justice professionals, according to Judge Leonard Edwards (Santa Clara County, California, Superior Court), is to develop a coordinated system within the community to ensure that the victim is not re-abused by the system designed to protect her. If several persons have been abused by the same perpetrator, various aspects of the case would be handled by different courts. Alleged child abuse would be handled by juvenile court, while the custody case, the civil suit, criminal case, and divorce proceedings may all be handled by different lawyers, different judges, and different courts, each operating on a different schedule and issuing different, perhaps contrary, orders. Furthermore, as in The Case of Linda and...
