Not illustrated. 1919 Excerpt: .not need to offer in full terms the money equivalent of possible earnings in commercial life. It must, how Tuition Fees From A Registration As Pictured Will Meet The Deficit ever, meet competition to a sufficient degree to maintain the character and grade of the institution. Any other course would be a fraud upon students and the community. To sum up, the University must have an increase of income of approximately $200,000 per annum to enable it to balance its budget, to take care of the increased salaries necessary, and to maintain its natural growth. It seems to me that there has been a general agreement to this necessity, and that all discussion has revolved around the source from which such addition to income could be obtained. To my certain knowledge, this question of increasing the University income beyond the earnings of the endowment has been the foremost problem in front of the Trustees during the past ten years. It is no new discovery. During this time four main lines of suggestion have been brought forward: First, that the University should acquire more gifts. This is easy to say. but the experience of the years of earnest begging, not only of the alumni but of the public and of other institutions, has shown only negligible results, considering the amount required. The older endowed institutions are supported as to from 75 to 95 per cent, from tuition of their students and gifts from their alumni. Stanford has...
