This is the day of all my life Round which the others tend, I now can call my darling, wife, --My counsellor and friend; Before the world we stand and say, --As one through life we mean to go! O happy, happy wedding day, What consummating bliss we know! This is the day our hearts desired, We thought it lingered long, Hope drooped her wings and faith was tired, And love alone was strong; We knew it must at last appear, And now t is here in bright array, The happiest day of all the year, Our own resplendent wedding day! WILLIAM CULLEN BRYANT. OH, FAIREST OF THE RURAL MAIDS. Oh, fairest of the rural maids! Thy birth was in the forest shades; Green boughs, and glimpses of the sky, Were all that met thy infant eye. Thy sports, thy wanderings, when a child, Were ever in the sylvan wild; And all the beauty of the place Is in thy heart and on thy face. The twilight of the trees and rocks Is in the light shade of thy locks; Thy step is as the wind, that weaves Its playful way among the leaves. Thine eyes are springs, in whose serene And silent waters heaven is seen; Their lashes are the herbs that look On their young figures in the brook. The forest depths, by foot unpressd, Are not more sinless than thy breast; The holy peace that fills the air Of those calm...
