Excerpt: . moss--With flagging pace the bridge they cross, And the place they seek is before them now. Sweet Lillian! let thy rustic seat Be this old walnut s fallen trunk, And shrink not, though beneath your feet The dark, rich soil hath carnage drunk; For here your roving eyes behold The scenery of that legend old Which thou hast teased me oft to tell--Now list! and heed its import well. . 1 This bending Cove, and the river near An isle from the level mainland sever, Where the blue-bird first salutes the ear With song when the vernal clouds appear, And a quiet beauty lingers ever. On the low and richly wooded shore Are visible remains of yore; And often, when the shelving clay Is worn by the wash of waves away, Rude-implements of other days, And skeletons arrest the gaze.
